PART II

Programme Details

19.   The duration of Master Degree Programme shall be two (02) academic years. Each academic year is divided into two (02) semesters.

20.   The lecturers of KDU and Universities, and eminent persons in the respective fields appointed by the Vice Chancellor on the recommendation of the Dean-FGS shall conduct the courses. The medium of instruction shall be in English.

21.	The subject modules for all above Master degree programmes are attached hereto as follows:

a.	MSc Degree in Management	- Appendix 1 to Annex A
b.	MSc Degree in Military Science and Technology	- Appendix 1 to Annex B
c.	MBA Degree in Logistics Management	- Appendix 1 to Annex C
d.	MBA Degree in E Governance	- Appendix 1 to Annex D
e.	Master Degree in Laws(LLM)	- Appendix 1 to Annex E

22.	The titles of the subject modules taught shall be as those set out in the appendix 1 of relevant programmes. The Curriculum Revision Board appointed by the Vice Chancellor has the power to amend the list of subject modules, the syllabi, and the number of credits allotted to each subject modules and to revise subjects time to time when required. The decision made by the Curriculum Revision Board should finally be approved by the Vice Chancellor before the implementation. Any changes will be announced before the commencement of each semester. A detailed syllabus of each subject module taught will be made available to the candidates.

23.	Number of subject modules for each programme and credit weightages available in the first and second academic years are shown in the appendix 1 of relevant programmes. The candidates have to offer subject modules in the two (02) years with the stipulated criteria to complete the programme successfully. Further, a candidate has to submit a dissertation/research on a research topic approved by KDU whose credit value shall be 15.

24.	There will be an end-semester examination for each semester. Any student, who fails or referred, is required to re-sit the immediately following supplementary examination within four month.

Submission of Assessment Papers / Dissertations

25.	The candidate has to submit the assignments and other assessment papers etc, to the Dean FGS and obtain a receipt before the deadline given by the lecturer of the subject module. Under no circumstances the deadline given by lecturer will be extended. Assignments, Reports, Term papers etc, should not be handed over to any other person other than the Dean FGS who is the authorised person for this purpose. The Dean FGS will determine the final date of submission of this dissertation/research. Two Soft copies of the dissertation should be provided. Selected dissertation paper may be published in KDU Web.

Postgraduate Diploma

26.	A candidate may register for a Master degree programme and withdraw from the programme to opt a Postgraduate Diploma (herein after referred as PGD) in the relevant programme after offering subject modules available in the first academic year whose credit sum is 30 and also he/she has to submit a project report of more than 5000 words on a given topic within one year. The credit weightage of the report is 5. The titles of the PGDs are as follows:

a.	PGD in Management.
b.	PGD in Military Science and Technology.
c.	PGD in Logistics Management.
d.	PGD in E Governance.
e.	PGD in Laws.

27.   A person who obtained PGD may rejoin as a candidate of the Master degree programme within three (3) years from the date of awarding the original PGD certificate subject to surrender of the PGD certificate to the Registrar at re-registration. Candidate who is awarded with the Master degree will not be eligible to PGD certificate which is already surrendered. Only the 1st year will be exempted from the programme since the candidate has completed PGD. Fees for re-registration and course will be applicable as per paragraph 11.

PART III

Mode of Evaluation

28.   The performance of each student at each subject module taught during each semester will be evaluated by means of continuous assessment and by an end-semester examination.

29.   Without prejudice to the generality of the Rules and Regulations relating to Examinations, a lecturer may conduct any evaluation test.

30.   The lecturer shall assign marks as given below for the continuous assessment component and the end semester examination component and shall announce this weightage at the commencement of his/her lecture series.

Components	Weightage %
Continuous Assessment (Presentations, Assignments, Quiz, Term Papers, Reports etc.)	30 or 40
End-Semester Examination	70 or 60

31.   Usually, the lecturers involved in teaching will evaluate the candidates in respect of continuous assessment. The end-semester examination papers will have a setter and a moderator.

32.   The performance of candidates at the end of each academic year will be evaluated as per the table below to determine whether a candidate has qualified for the award of PGD or the Master degree. Candidates who are awaiting the results of the first academic year are permitted to follow the lectures of the second year on a temporary basis until the results are finalised.

Range of Marks	Grade	Grade Points
90 – 100	A+	4.2
80 – 89	A	4.0
75 – 79	A-	3.7
70 – 74	B+	3.3
65 – 69	B	3.0
60 – 64	B-	2.7
55 – 59	C+	2.3
50 – 54	C	2.0
40 – 49	C-	1.7
30 – 39	D	1.0
Less than 30	E	0

33.   The Grade Point Average (GPA) of each candidate is calculated using the Formula $GPA = \Sigma c_i g_i / \Sigma c_i$ where c_i is the number of credits and g_i is the grade point obtained for the ith subject module.

34.   The minimum pass mark for each subject module shall be 50 per cent (Grade C). The marks for the entire subject module will be the weighted sum of the marks obtained for the two components of the subject module. The grade point will be determined by the schedule given in para.32. It is compulsory that a candidate participates for both continuous assessment component and end semester exam.

    a.   If a candidate obtains marks as stated below is deemed to have failed the particular subject module entirely or partially.

        (i)   less than 40% for both component (D or E), or

        (ii)   less than 40% for one component and 40% or above for the other component, (*Ica or Ic), or

        (iii)   absent with a valid excuse for one component and obtained less than 40% for other component, or

        (iv)   absent without a valid excuse for one component and obtained 40% or above for other component.

35.   The candidates have to obtain minimum marks of 40% from each component to obtain a C-, C or a better grade in addition to the overall marks required for each grade. For a D grade each component marks and overall marks should be 30% - 39%.

36.   If a candidate fails (refer para 34) a subject module he/she is required to sit for the next available examination and pass. Candidates who have obtained 40% or more for the continuous assessment component ($\geq$ 40%) but obtained less than 40% (< 40%) in the end-semester exam will sit only for the next available end-semester exam and vice versa.

37.   The lecturer who marks the answer scripts shall discuss the answer scripts with students to clarify any quaries or ambiguities in the answer scripts before marks are proceeded to Board of Examination (hereinafter referred as BOE) .

38.   If a candidate fails an optional subject module he/she will be permitted only one opportunity to change that optional subject module, subject to paying additional lecture fees for the particular subject.

39.   The BOE shall finalise the results of each end-semester examination and recommend for the confirmation of the BOM. Those who do not pass a subject module will be given an opportunities to appear for re-sit examination subject to payment of examination fees.

40.   If a candidate, who is registered for the Master degree programme, obtains D or less in 80% or more subject modules in the first academic year, he/she will be discontinued from the Master Degree programme.

General Sir John Kotelawala Defence University
Decisions of the 009th meeting of the Senate held on 16.09.2014

KDU/DR/08

To   : DVC – Academic/ Dean - FGS/DR - Exam
From   : Actg. Registrar
Date   : 22.09.2014
Reference : Senate Memo 009/01
Subject   : Approval for the Amendments of the By-Laws at Faculty of Graduate Studies

The Senate approved to integrate certain clauses available in new By-Laws with old By-Laws as shown below, in order to facilitate the candidates who are subjected to old by laws to continue their studies without being discontinued or dragged for years.

Further, FGS seeks to include following new clauses to both the By-Laws:

a.   To permit the candidate to carry forward the best grade obtained for each subject or best mark obtained for each component of the subject obtained by him for each subject module out of all attempts.

b.   To convert C+(ex) or C(ex) to a D grade only if the candidate has obtained required minimum marks for a D grade from both components.(In the new by-laws minimum 40 marks from each CAS and ES component is required for a C- grade which is equal to the D grade in the old by-laws.)

c.   Allow candidates those who appeared for the Year I Semester II examination to pursue with the programme continuously with year II and attend all the examination & assignments of semester III irrespective of the status of the results subsequently published related to the first year examination though if the BOE decides to retain the student in the first year.
Required to be amended	Suggested to be amended as
MSc / BSc in Management If candidate obtains four or more "D" grades for an academic year, he/she is considered failed in all subject modules in the relevant year. (As per the old By-Laws)	He/She has to sit for the failed subject modules only. (As per the new By-Laws)
If any candidate fails in the continuous assessment component, he/she has to complete both the end semester examination and continuous assessment components. (As per the old By-Laws)	He/She has to complete the failed component only. (As per the new By-Laws)

FGS - office

d.   To remove the bar condition to be fulfilled to proceed the second year degree programme by allowing candidates to proceed with the second year degree programme provided they have appeared for at least half of the subject first year.
